THE JURYMEN'S FEES.
A jurymen said, on behalf of the jury, he had to make an application for additional remuneration. They were all business men. And might be saying that although his Honor had made no order for it per day they had heard rumors that they would not get it.
His Honor: I am afraid I cannot satisfy you upon that point. I can only tell you that it ought to be paid.

The jurymen: Is it guaranteed or not by the Court?

His Honor: My associate says it has been paid. (To Mr. Went) Will this case last much longer?

Mr. Went: Oh, yes. But I shall cut as many witnesses off as I can.

The jurymen: We do not wish it to be thought that we wish to make money out of it. It is not a matter of love.

His Honor said he would see what could be done. Fortunately he was questioned the jurymen to say that they had not kept their fees. The fees had been paid in so far as he knew.

DELIVERY OF BUTTER.

LONDON, Feb. 16.

This week the large suffering of the consignees of Australian butter found vent in a meeting called to express their grievances. A circular letter was issued by Messrs. Muir and Spurgeon to all the consignees in London, and an invitation to attend was sent to the Agents-General for Victoria and New South Wales. The meeting was held in St. John's Club, Finsbury-street, on Thursday evening, Feb. 14, and the following persons were present:—

Playa (Sydney), J.H. Wood, J. Baird, J. Wood, W. H. Flanagan (Melbourne). J. Gray (Melbourne) wrote expressing his regret that he was unable to attend. The above are Australian shipping agents. It is very regrettable that the only London agents who attended were Messrs. W. Widdowson and Co., Edin. Kilmurray and Co., Lt. and W. Harrison and Co., Ltd. of course, the Messrs. Mills and Newell. The Agent-in-Charge, Victoria was unable to attend, but sent Mr. A.H. G. Barry in his place. The Hon. B. Copeland, Agent-General for New South Wales, came himself, and was applauded to the echo.

Mr. Sparrow, in opening the meeting, said—that, as everybody in the track knew, there had been for years the utmost difficulty among companies in getting the Australian better in anything like a reasonable time from the races. It was not to be believed, even to the discharge of the better from the stewards, which generally took only three days, but the delay arose from the moment the better was landed on the quay. It was taken into consideration for sorting and despatch, and it was there that the confusion began. The ship's company was responsible, for their liability not to clean until the steamer was headed to the harbor, was the cause of the delay provided by the confusion. Of course, the

there had been other delays owing to the strike of a lighterment, but he did not think that that year the delay was much greater than that of the year before. The strike, it was most annoying to come upon, and everybody connected with the trade that this exceedingly slow delivery of butter ensued. It generally took a fortnight, and sometimes three weeks, before the final butter reached the stores of Mr. Sparrow, in consequence, moved the following resolution:—“That in the opinion of this meeting the shipping companies should be urged to agree to complete deliveries of any vessel to the wharf, or railway within six days after commencing work.”

Mr. Samuel Low (Mass., W. Wedel and Co.) accredited the resolution. He said the subject upon which they were met was of great importance to everybody concerned, especially to the Australian dairy farmer, as it caused a considerable money loss ultimately to the producer. That this delay in getting Australian butter on the market and into the hands of the consumer was very detrimental to the character of Australian butter overdone in the trade mark, and handicapped it considerably in competition with Danish. For instance, grocers, butchers and every retailer who dealt in butter, knew that he could get a supply of fresh butter once a week on a fixed day almost to see how, consequently he bought just sufficient to meet his wife's demand, and that this butter was always fresh, and so found favour with the consumers. Australian, on the other hand, was so uncertain of reaching the retailer, or even the shopman, at any regular time, that both classes had to buy once a week's supply on hand, and consequently Australian butter reached the consumer was used on only a week out of the step, but generally a fortnight and three weeks, and thus was more of poor stuff, whereas if it could pass the test of time it would be thick, sweet, and quite fresh, and thus

Mr. J. Wood suggested that the meeting should be adjourned. It would be better to have everybody possible represented.

The Hon. H. Colquhoun agreed as to the advisability of having a larger and more fully a representative meeting, but in the night they could pass the resolution to have them and then adjourn. As far as he could, rather, every committee in London would agreed to the resolution. They all desired speedy delivery, especially as the factor was a valuable one in the Australian cause. The speaker said that in addition to the difficulty under which Australia lay owing to the long distance from where it was most undesirable that the defect should be aggravated by the butter lying so long in the hands of the merchant, he had reached the conclusion, no far removed from himself, concerned he would assist them in all his power to secure a speedy delivery, and he was confident all the other Agents—several would also render every assistance possible. The speedy resolution was then put and carried unanimously.

A general discussion ensued, and finally Mr. Love moved and (Captain Lusk seconded) a resolution, "That all the Associations in the United States and the country and the London agents present at the meeting be formed into a committee to call another meeting to decide what action to take in order to secure the more prompt delivery to consumers of American butter." This was carried and the speaker has given out signed by all the above-mentioned gentlemen calling a meeting for Monday next. It is expected that Mr. Cooper, who has taken such an active part in the question, will again occupy the chair.

Yours, in friendly regards,
Wm. H. STEWART, MARYT.

The exceedingly high price which Danish butter fetched in the early part of January has been greatly reduced by somewhat heavy falls, until now it is getting nearer to its intrinsic value in comparison with American butter. Then it was at about 10s. a cwt. now it is at 7s. 6d. above a standard, and it is very probable that it may come nearer before March is very old. At present Australia is celebrating in price mainly owing to the very large supplies which are arriving from the States, and combined with Australia is supplying the British markets with about 1,200 tons of butter a week, or more than a third of the average import from all countries combined. The Soviet supply is expected to fall for two or three weeks; then domestic butter will again advance and creep closer to Danish. The total imports at the present moment are much less than last year, and there would be a shortage in the last year if it were not for the relatively large amount of inferior and secondary butter which is arriving from America. During the last month, more than 1000 tons of this kind of butter were taken last year from here, and the probability is that it has gone to supply the wants of the convalescent and pastyrievic, some of it has found its way on to the conaler, and is selling at 103 and is per lb. 100. One great difference this year over all previous years, and that is the great disappearance of the high-class margarine mixtures, which used to regularly compete with Australian butter. The legislation of the previous year has killed this fraud. The best butter for home use is the best butter. Part of this American butter is called "terrace" butter, and consists of two grades of butter ransified as it were by partial melting, and those being churned over again with sweet milk. Some of this over is now being made at the per cwt. wholesale, and is per lb. retail. It is very marvelous how such sweet and good butter

AUSTRALIAN PORK.

The Afrie brought a consignment of Australian pork from Melbourne, and some of it is now on Southfield market. The pigs are very good and cheap, and well liked by the butchers. The price is dropping, because they like to do away with freezing pork, although it is being ever used for bacon, and as retortists the demand. Nevertheless, it is selling at 4d per lb. The fat is very good, and the bones are large. The hams, while, while Dutch pork not from the house 39d, and English do. The prices are all high, and it would be foolish for Australians to anticipate that they can continue. New Zealand has for some years regularly sent pork to South Africa, and the press, and there are no reports why a duty-free country like Victoria and New South Wales should not be equally successful.

90 years ago by Mr. Whitton, the then Register-in-Chief for Railways. At that time it was there, as now, that it could have been avoided, by the construction of a new tunnel, but the great cost, which would have had the effect of judging by the prevailing cost of material and labor and want of modern appliances, amounted to $450,000. It proved such a bar that it was deemed to construct the Zigzag instead, at a cost of $168,000.

The Commissioners have for some time past urged the necessity, owing to the great increase in traffic for the district, of a deviation to avoid the Zigzag, as works of this character are always serious impediments to heavy machinery, and the Minister for Public Works has permitted the question of a deviation on the line for the concentration of the traffic to the Committee as early as possible after the approval of the

Navigation Rules.—The following navigation rules appear in the "Government Gazette":—

All steamships certified to carry passengers beyond the limits of a straight line drawn between Uman and the Strait of Juan de Fuca shall, during the display of the signal (hereinafter described) at either of the places hereinafter mentioned, be deemed to be classed in Division A of Class 2 of Schedule 2 of the "Navigation (Amendment) Act, 1909," and so be subject to the conditions therein contained. Signals:—

(A) A square red flag with a diamond shaped signal, attached to the mast-head of the northern signal, at the Signal Station, and a white flag with a red flag with a diamond shaped signal, attached to the mast-head of the Flagstaff on the northern and of Middle Head.

Mail Steamers.—Yesterday the new steamer Venture left the quay upon her mail voyage to San Francisco. The Albatross also sailed, alongside which the steamer Isle, was crowded with tators. Mr. Sprackles during his brief visit had made a good many friends, and they took occasion to drive down to see him away. The P. & O. Company's mail to India for the Britannia for London. The mail by the Imperial North German Lloyd's steamer Prince Regent Leopold are due to-day.

Fast Run of the Eastern.—One of the most attractive looking vessels that visit Sydney is the new steamer Eastern of the E. and A. line which arrived yesterday from Hongkong. Her arrival was scarcely expected as early as 1 p.m., but she came to the concert at 11:45, the first of the Captain Winston 2200. The 19-year-old, slender, heavily freckled girl, dressed in a white dress, had promised to make the run in 15 days, including the stops at Port and at Fort Darwin and the Queensland ports. Among the tourists who had made the round voyage from Sydney there returned Mr. S. Dickinson and family. Upon inquiry at the museum agent's office yesterday as to the looking-out person, Miss Gilchrist, he said, and Co. said that the dwarfed girl was better than for a considerable time past, and he

It is divided into two sections, 400 cc. each, and is driven by a 100-horsepower, 1000 cc. diesel engine, and at a cost of about one shilling per hour. The Hercules type of engine is popular with mining companies, pumpjack contractors, and agriculturalists, owing to its compactness, safety, and low maintenance. The Hercules type of engine is also used in the construction of a machine known as an auxiliary or work engine. This machine produces 9000 lbs. of power, and is used in the construction of 9000 lbs. Coeingham Divorce Suit.—The Coeingsham & Coeingsham divorce suit was continued in No. 1 jury Court yesterday, before his Honor Mr. Justice Owen and a special jury of 12. Two experts in handwriting gave evidence on behalf of the plaintiff, and the defendant called certain letters alleged by the petitioner to be forgeries, which were written by the same hand as other letters the authorship of which was admitted. The co-respondent gave evidence, and denied generally the statements made by the respondent. Mr.

A "loving" couple was arrested from J. A. Bowling and Elyse Smith, who had no connection with the man otherwise stated by him. The examination of the correspondence did not conclude when the Court adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning.

A Strange Catch.—Mr. John Hagen, of Cayuga, while fishing off the rocks at Water's Bay on the 10th instant, made an extraordinary catch. He suddenly felt a hard pull, and thinking he had hooked a fish, he pulled it up and found much to his surprise a large black cat.

Stump Duties.—Stump duties in respect of blocks of waste and houses of administration were received during last week to the amount of £23,612 13s 8d. Of this sum £1695 10s 7d was paid in regard to the estate of the late Mr. M. C. Cowlishaw, which for the purpose of probate was valued at $747,000. Of the balance received at the Stamp Office, £21,581 17s 6d was paid to Mrs. J. C. Byrne, of Woomahua, near Tregear, which was valued at £215,518 18s 6d.

The will also includes the following bequests—Dubuque Hospital, $250; Dubuque Protestant Fair, $250; street, $250; North-western Patent and Agricultural and Horticultural Association, $250. The value of the estate was $2500, under $14,957 net, and probate was granted to the executors, Messrs. James Holmes (Bathurst), Francis Loevelle Hoyt (Woomah), and George Isaac Smith. The executor died at Dabbo on June 11, 1900.

The Boating Fatality.—The Deputy Coroner (Dr. R. H. Todd) and a jury concluded the adjourned inquest at the Coroner's Court yesterday into the circumstances surrounding the death of a young man, Byron Lawson, 16 years, who was drowned on the 10th instant. The evidence showed that deceased accompanied five companions.

on a sailing trip on the 10th instant. They were on a new 16ft. centre-board skiff at Lawrence Bay, and when between Glad Island and Cayley's, a heavy east wind struck them, and the boat heeled over, throwing the occupants into the water. A launch from H.M.S. Katooma was hailed and picked up five of the men, but Lawrence was not to be found. His body was subsequently found floating in the water near Glad Island. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

THE COAL TRADE.

CONTINUATION OF THE LOCKOUT.

THREE COAL MINES IDLE.

Matters in connection with the disagreement between the colliers and the Sydney Coal Lumpers' Union underwent very little change yesterday. It was anticipated that Mr. W. M. Hughes, M.L.A., representing the labour interests, and Mr. S. M. L. A., secretary of the Federation of Coal Lumpers' Union, would approach the colliers with a view of bringing about a conference between the parties to the dispute. This, however, was not done. A meeting of the owners was held at the office of the association at 11 a.m. yesterday, but nothing in the form of a proposal, or any correspondence from the union, was received by the secretary (Mr. W. A. Firth). Matters consequent upon the lock-out, however, were discussed, and the owners stated that they have no objection to the colliers' union, but that they are unable to receive any coal from the union. The colliers, on the other hand, are unable to perform the work to be done at the port, and are consequently unable to receive any coal from the union.

THE RULES OF THE COAL LUMPERS' UNION.

The rules of the Coal Lumpers' Union, under which the work is carried out at the collieries, were framed at a joint meeting of the union and the owners, and were adopted on December 15, 1900. It was stated that the union is unable to perform the work to be done at the port, and are consequently unable to receive any coal from the union.
